A SCORE OF PLANT BEDS

In Christian County Scraped In the North Pembroke District

SOME BEDS GUARDED

Some Victims Have Joined Association, Others Will Plant No Crops.

Mr. John C. Thurmond, of Gracey, whose tobacco beds were destroyed by night riders last week, in an interview with a Kentuckian representative, said he would not raise a crop this year. He says he could possibly raise some late plants by re-sowing and guarding his beds, but would probably lose his barn after the crop was housed.

Mr. Thurmond says he does not know who destroyed his property, but he believes it was done by members or supporters of the tobacco association. He says there are no representatives of the trust in his section and it would be impossible for any corporation to hire such work done without being exposed, as a man who would contract to do such work would turn against his employer whenever it was to his interest to do so. Mr. Thurmond said he had never been threatened, but had been given to understand that he could not raise a crop outside of the association.

The same night his beds were scraped, the beds of George Diguid on the adjoining farm, and Jas. D. Blakeley, over in the edge of Trigg county, were also scraped. Next morning, he learned by telephone from Gracey that his beds had been dug up before he had given out the information himself. He says there were 8 horseback riders at Diguid's and five of them walked across the plowed field to his bed, a short distance, and returned to their horses. He believes the same crowd then went by Mr. Blakeley's and scraped his beds on their way back to their homes in Trigg county.

A man whose business carries him into the country returned this week from Trigg county and says he was told by a well known farmer whom he called upon that the association had carried the "outsiders" as long as it intended to. W. F. Cox, J. P. Sholar and P. T. Roberts have joined the association.

Mr. Thurmond says he does not believe any man outside of the association will be allowed to raise a crop and he is not willing to join a body that does not denounce such lawless methods as the night riders are resorting to and that he would rather quit raising tobacco altogether than to take part in, or have guilty knowledge of such misdeeds.

In the meantime the reward of $500 offered for each conviction is not causing any uneasy feeling.

The night riders are getting bolder and some of the marauders are said to be known. They seem to be confident that no evidence to convict them can be secured. Kiah Malone, it is said, wants a survey made of his farm to determine which side of the county line his beds are on and that he is ready to prosecute. He pays taxes in Trigg county.

Mr. McCargo and his seven sons are watching their plant beds near Bainbridge and their guns are loaded with buckshot. Their beds have not been molested.

Capt. A. G. Chapman, representing the insurance companies carrying insurance on the association storage house in Cadiz, went to Cadiz Monday and came back satisfied that there was no danger of retaliation. He says he was told that there are not more than 15 or 20 non-association tobacco growers in Trigg county and that a mob of non-asso-

EXPENDITURES FOR THIS YEAR.

1907, Will Be a Record Breaker and Will Give Work for All.

JUST WATCH US GROW.

Three Hundred and Thirty-five Thousand Dollars a Conservative Estimate of Improvements Now On.

This paper has taken the pains to get together the amount of money that is to be spent this year in the city and county in the way of building and improvement of county roads. We have been very conservative. As the Salubria hotel is under contract with a local firm and in the county, we have included it. It will be observed that this is the only building outside the city limits that is included in the estimates given below. Look over them and you will be surprised at the amount of work in sight at the opening of the building season:

In new pikes, bond issue	$100,000
Other road improvements	40,000
Forbes Manufacturing Company's new factory	45,000
..... office building	12,000
J. H. Anderson & Co.'s department store	50,000
J. F. Garnett's new store room	15,000
Enlargement of Christian Church	15,000
Salubria Springs Hotel (equipped)	10,000
Enlargement of Methodist Church	10,000
Apartment building 6th and Clay streets	8,000
Enlargement Baptist Church	5,000
City streets and sewers	7,000
Lucian Davis' residence	6,000
Mrs. Amelia Lindsay's residence	5,000
Smaller buildings under contract	7,000
Total	$335,000

With such an outlook just at the opening of the building season it is reasonable to suppose that the amount will swell to wonderful proportions before winter begins. Even after winter sets in there will be quite a number of cottages built during mild weather.

The demand for vacant houses is today as great as it was at the close of last year and at the beginning of this. There is not a vacant store room on Main street and very few (not more than two or three) on any of the other business streets. People are moving into the city as fast as they can secure buildings in which to live. The real estate dealers are making sales every day and, of course, realty is advancing steadily.

A contractor remarked only a few days ago that there are now, unfavorable as the weather has been all of this month, from forty to fifty houses in the city in different stages of erection. He said that he had ten or twelve contracts on hand, and he was satisfied that other contractors had thirty or forty. South Kentucky College will have to arrange to enlarge its lodging facilities. Even though it is able to house more students to-day than it ever has been in its history, it is not at all able to comply with the demands that have been made. Since the college has been rebuilt and a large girls' dormitory added, it has had to turn off a large number of young ladies from a distance who have applied for tuition and board in the institution.

We will not say anything now of the prospect of both the L. & N. and I. C. railroads building new passenger stations. They will be built soon. The present stations are entirely inadequate for the comfort and convenience of the traveling public. The railroad companies know this, and when the proper time arrives they will put up new buildings or get together and build a large passenger station—which all agree, would be much better.

FORMER PATIENT

At Western Asylum Dies of Consumption.

One of the most faithful attendants at the asylum died last Wednesday. T. Forrester was sent from Hopkins county ten years ago to take his place among the hundreds of unfortunates at the asylum. A few years after he was restored to his right mind and accepted a position as attendant. He proved to be one of the most faithful and efficient. In the meanwhile consumption laid its deadly hand upon him. He passed away Wednesday at the age of 35 years. He never had but one sight of the city, and that was the day he was brought here as a lunatic. One other peculiarity with him was that he never spoke a word to any one without it was on business. He had nearly $2,000 to his credit in bank when he died.

DICKINSON-SMITH.

Prominent Young People of Trenton to Marry.

Mr. Eugene H. Dickinson, a prominent young farmer of Trenton, and Miss Mayme Smith, daughter of Mrs. Sallie H. Smith, of the same place, will be married April 30. The ceremony will be performed in the Trenton Baptist church at 5 o'clock p. m. Ham sacks for sale at Kentuckian office.

LIGHT PLANT

At Trenton Wrecked By An Explosion.

Electrician Duerson was Pretty Badly Burned.

The electric light plant at Trenton was wrecked by an explosion and the power house destroyed by fire. A valve was opened for the purpose of re-charging the boiler and the explosion followed. The wreck was total, the damage amounting to probably six or seven hundred dollars. Mr. Will Duerson, the electrician, was badly burned about the face and head, but was not fatally injured. The plant had only been in operation a few months and was one among the best in this section. New machinery was ordered at once and it will only be a matter of a few days until operations are resumed. In the mean time the town is in darkness.

Back Again.

Mr. Chas. H. Nash, Jr., who went to Benton, Texas, about two months ago to make his home, returned to the city Thursday morning. While he likes the people of Benton exceedingly well, he likes Hopkinsville better. He will take his old position at Hardwick's. Nothing like Rock Spring water to "draw."

"The Old World and Its Ways."

This is the title of a new and profusely illustrated book by Col. William Jennings Bryan, recounting his noted journey around the earth and through Europe, which was so widely heralded through the American Press.

The book is an illustrated and descriptive record of that entire journey, which is so memorable in current history. The journey embraced a period of a year, and covered practically all the nations of the earth.

Col. Bryan traveled with camera and pencil, and not only described, in brilliant phrase, what he saw, but further illustrated his journey by photographs. These photographs constitute a striking pictorial presentation and lend special interest to the book. The number 210, and they show in picture the world as he saw it. They constitute just that many striking Object-Lessons of the people of all countries in their cities, towns and villages—in their homes and everyday occupations.

The book will interest every reader as a unique presentation of a wonderfully interesting journey. It is sold only through solicitors. The Thompson Publishing Company of St. Louis, Mo., are the fortunate publishers. They advertise for agents in further column of this issue.

Frank Tandy, a negro man who works at Layne's stable, was arrested Wednesday night on South Virginia street, charged with chasing a negro girl into the house of Mrs. Geo. Winfree. The girl's name is Pearl Steele and she cooks for Mrs. Gus Stephens. As she started home she encountered a man who accosted her. She ran into Mr. J. M. Bullard's and finding the door locked ran into Mrs. Winfree's next door and begged for protection. Mrs. Winfree phoned to headquarters and Lieut. Morris and Officer Broderick responded quickly and caught Tandy standing in the Bullard yard. He denied his guilt, but could give no account of himself. The girl failed to identify him positively, which kept him from being held over on a serious charge. As it was, Judge Brasher fined him $20 and he was sent to the work house.

Mrs. Winfree was alone and was much frightened by the episode, but her promptness and presence of mind enabled Tandy to be caught.

Yost-Garrott.

Mr. Henry Fain Yost, of Greenville, Tenn., and Miss Jessie Garrott were married Wednesday afternoon, at the home of the bride's parents near Pembroke. Rev. R. L. Baker performed the ceremony. The attendants were Misses Janie Garrott, Susie Rives, Marquie Barker and Eva Griffin. Miss "Katie Graham played Mendelssohn's wedding march.

The bride wore a traveling suit of gray cloth and carried bride roses. The young couple were driven to Pembroke and took the afternoon train for Greenville.

The bride is the oldest daughter of Mr. Jeff J. Garrott and was educated at Bethel College.

She is an exceedingly bright and attractive young lady. Mr. Yost is a young railroad man, a son of one of Greenville's prominent citizens.

SICK IN PRISON.

Tramp Arrested for Drunkenness in Good Hands.

Chief of Police Roper has an elephant on his hands. Wednesday a tramp was arrested for drunkenness and was put in the lockup to get sober. The prisoner is about 60 years of age, respectfully dressed and of more than ordinary intelligence. Since sobering up he has been quite sick but is receiving the best treatment possible. The man refuses to talk much, but papers found on him reveal that he is a mathematician and has been teaching his system in Covington, Henning and Dyer, Tenn. He has letters of recommendation from S. B. Tatum, superintendent of schools, and from the principal of the High School at Dyer. These letters give the old man's name as K. S. Morrison, but his home seems to be anywhere he is able to form a class in mathematics. He has no money and as soon as he is able to travel will probably start out on the road again.

ciation men could not be organized in the county.

The outrages are no longer confined to Trigg county but the same tactics are being resorted to in different sections of this county. The Pembroke Journal says almost a score of plantbeds between Pembroke and Fairview have been destroyed this week.

The Kentuckian will conceal no facts. It will suppress no news of these crimes, for business reasons or other reasons. If men are found with courage enough to protect their property and discover who the guilty parties are, they will be exposed, no matter whom they may be. This is no time for talking in whispers, or for mincing words. In a contest involving law on one side and lawlessness on the other, the Kentuckian stands where it has always stood—on the side of the law.

If the Tobacco Association expects or hopes to live and benefit its members, it must take a firm stand against all forms of lawlessness. If irresponsible friends of the organization are doing these things, they should be denounced as enemies to the association and reward offered for their apprehension. The feeling of unrest following this era of unpunished crime is causing good citizens and Christian, God-fearing people everywhere to ask themselves where it is all to end.

Is the law impotent and powerless to cope with midnight marauders, who menace the property and lives of law-abiding citizens? Are incendiaries and nightriders to be fostered and protected, until the people are forced to resort to other means of protection?

Fatal Hog Disease.

Messrs. W. T. Watts and John Froman, of the Sinking Fork neighborhood, have lost quite a number of hogs by a peculiar disease. They live only about ten or twelve hours after the disease takes hold. So far the disease has baffled those who have used the ordinary remedies.

NEXT MONDAY.

County Hunting and Fishing Club Will Meet.

Since, and even before the completion of the big lake built by the Water Company, there has been quite a liberal use of hot air and printers ink about what ought to be within the enclosure of the Water Company, provided certain privileges could be obtained. Hunting, picnicking, rowing and sitting beside the still waters and jerking out fish half an arm's length as fast as you could throw your hook into the water, and so on ad infinitum—but it has all been talk.

The Hunting and Fishing Club is to meet next Monday to take steps to carry out plans heretofore approved, and if the members can get a satisfactory price on certain privileges something will be done in a short time.

It is pretty certain that the club means to get down to business at once. It is said that there are only eight of the original forty yet unsold and that there are so many applicants for them that they are falling all over each other to get one. The stock of the company will have to be increased, it seems.

MUSIC FESTIVAL.

First Rehearsal Will be Held Monday Night.

Prof. Mayo will arrive in the city Monday morning, to give the first rehearsals for the great music festival. He will drill the children's chorus in the day time, and the adult chorus at night.

It is the earnest desire to have all the adult voices at the tabernacle building Monday night; as the time for rehearsing is short we hope you will make it a point to be there Monday night. The ladies are requested to ask all the men folks to be present. Make yourself a committee of one to do this. From the information already received, we look for quite a large adult chorus. We want these choruses as large as possible.

BOTH PHONES.

we want all the ladies and gentlemen, if you are a solo singer all right, but we want all singers, as the soloists will be professional singers, and we want all local singers simply for the chorus work. There are more that "sing by ear" than who read music, these people after being drilled by Prof. Mayo, will show up in the chorus just as well as the trained musician. No matter what church you attend, no matter if you are not a churchman, this festival is strictly non-political, non-denominational, it is for all people, and for the good of the people. The profits will be used as a repair fund for the tabernacle building. If enough is cleared we hope to remove all posts in the building, and replace the present seats with comfortable chairs. The festival will bring thousands of out of town people to our city, this will advertise Greater Hopkinsville more than anything ever held here. We want all the people to take part in it, as this is the only way to make it an artistic as well as financial success. The school children are very enthusiastic. We hope the adults will take as much interest. Well, we close this by asking you to do your part towards making Hopkinsville's first music festival a success. You can do this by simply coming out to rehearsal Monday night.—Chairman Music Committee.

NEGRO GIRL

Burned to Death at Pee Dee This Week.

A negro girl, daughter of Robert Brewer, one and a half miles from Pee Dee, was burned to death one day this week. She had saturated a cloth with oil and turpentine to scrub with and caught the cloth on fire, which ignited her clothing. She jumped into the bed and set the bed on fire and then ran into a pond where she fell and died from her burns. A neighbor arrived in time to put out the house, which had caught on fire. The girl was 14 years old and lived at C. S. Dawson's.

HISTORIC BROWNSVILLE OF TEXAS

US GOVERNMENT BUILDING

It is not generally known that James Stillman, president of the richest bank in the United States and reputed to be the financial genius of the Standard Oil company, was born in Brownsville, Tex.

In fact this little city of 7,000 people, tucked away in the southernmost tip of Texas, has been not only the birthplace of many great men, but the arena of events which not only made history, but are doubly interesting because of the element of romance interwoven with them. At present it is a city of memories dreaming on the banks of the Rio Grande river, with a wonderful soil and climate capable of supporting its population many times over. By reason of President Roosevelt's discharge of the negro troops who raided the town, many have first learned of its existence and comparatively few are aware of the important part it has played in the commercial and maritime history of this country.

In the days of the civil war, Matamoras, the Mexican city which lies directly across the Rio Grande from Brownsville, was a harbor of refuge for many who had fled from Texas for leaving the states and, with Brownsville, offered practically the only port in this country from which the cotton crop of the south could be exported.

By reason of these conditions both cities attained large populations and aided in the commercial activity of that territory, but with the close of the war, when commerce returned to its normal channels, the twin cities of the border, as they were called,
sunk back to their normal quietude
and indifference.

This was in the days before the railroad, when post wagon and horseback were the only means of travel, and it was in these days that the father of James Stillman died a semi-banking and trading business, first at Matamoros then at Brownsville.

The house in which the great banker was born is a comfortable brick cottage but no more than a cottage and when a mere boy his father decided that because of the feverish condition in that section, it was best to send the boy and his mother north.
The president of the City National bank of New York has visited the city of his birth but once since then and though he owns a large portion of the city of Brownsville, he administers his affairs through an attorney.
Next to the house in which Stillman was born is another cottage equally unpretentious. This was the refuge of one Porfirio Diaz, who after an unsuccessful attempt to become president of Mexico, crossed the river in the night far above the city and exhausted both in mind and body, struggled through the dense growth which screened him from his pursuers until he reached his friends in Brownsville.
There for many weeks he plotted and planned until one dark night he crossed the river with but few more supporters than a corporal's squad and secured a bloodless victory over a detachment of Mexicans encamped on the bank. This was the beginning of Diaz's successful invasion into Mexico, and it is generally believed to have been far more the result of cunning artfully expended than military force or strategy. When Texas decided to cast its fortunes with the United States, and in the general mix-up which resulted, Mexico continued to claim sovereignty over the much of the territory in which Brownsville is situated.

Diplomacy failed to settle the matter and this little unheralded city became what might be termed the civie cause of the Mexican war. Gen.
Winfield Scott, with his army, landed at Corpus Christi and from thence marched to Brownsville.

The first battle of the Mexican war took place at Palo Alto, about three miles north of Brownsville. The Mexicans were repelled, retreating to the Rio Grande river with Scott's army in close pursuit. In a skirmish at Brownsville, Maj. Brown was killed and the military post situated there has ever since borne the name of Fort Brown.

At Brownsville the Rio Grande attains the proportions of a mighty river, and increases in dimensions until it reaches the gulf, 30 miles away from the city.

THE SIREN.
The song the siren sings is sweet,
The strain is lovely complete.
It fills, along the blossomed knoll,
A weird enchantment to the soul.
It tempts the heart with promise bold
And sets the thoughts to subtle mold.

But siren's songs lead on to where
The path is filled with woe and care.
They lead to ruin, the innocent
Are shorn of purity and love.
With sudden sorrow and the thought
How dearly they have paid and bought!
They lead to where the heart once gold
Is hard and coarse and chilled with cold!

O innocence, beware the song
The siren sings among the throng,
Beware the tale she tells to you
Of lured way and skies of blue.
Her words are like a fatal lamp
That leads you feet to dungeons damp—
To dungeons filled with wrecks that pray
For Death to end the siren's lay!

Beware the siren; hate her song,
And tread the path of virtue long.
The path of purity and right
That has no pitfalls in the night.
The strong and with devotion free
When siren sings be true to me!
Let not ambition guide this wrong,
And launch to swim the siren's song.

Where.

I can't help but wonder
Where all of the plunder
Will go when the miners die!
It won't go to heaven—
They'll have no such heaven
To dangle St. Peter's eye.

I'm sure that the boodle
Won't stay the whangboodle,
Or keep him from croaking there,
Alone in the sorrow
That others won't borrow,
Because they don't care a hair!

I can't help but wonder
Where all of the plunder
Will go when the miners die!
It won't go to glory—
I'm thinking, I'm sorry,
Their tickets won't read that way!

Get the Law on Him.

It boasts all what a lot of light words
we have in this beautiful little city.
Five years ago we set up a fine two-column obituary of Uncle Ansel Bibbins, when we thought he was about to pass beyond. Uncle Ansel was 117 then and we didn't think he had any more show than a rabbit to get well.
Uncle Ansel is just as lively as ever now. We have sent him a bill three times amounting to $2 for composition on his obituary. There is nothing small about the Gazette, but we can't afford to have that type tied up many years longer without some compensation. It's a small man that won't even pay for the composition.
Printers won't work for nothing. It is true we used portions of it for Grandpa Hanks and Uncle Ed Whipple when they passed away, but the rest of it is just as good as new—

BY MUNICIPAL COUNCIL.

Edited by JOHN KENDRICK BANGS.

Lost.—By the London county council, somewhere between London bridge and Battersea, on its municipal ferry, a large was containing in the neighborhood of $500,000. The finder will be liberally rewarded upon returning the same to Taxpayer, St. Vitus-in-the-Park, London, E. C. and no questions asked.

The alderman may own the town
And all within the city's ken.
But yet the question will not down—
Oh, who will own the aldermen?

It is the universal belief everywhere that the business of all cities is mismanaged by the chosen representatives of the people. According to M. O. logic, this condition of affairs will be improved by putting the city fathers in control of our private business as well.

We are not sure that a city owned municipality would prove a failure after all.
The average alderman may not know much about running railroads or making gas-illumination, we mean, not natural—but few of them can be justly accused of a lack of familiarity with the requirements of a successful managed corner any-wise palace.
Why not give the civic cocktail a trial?

The public baths of Shorelitch, England, have been closed for lack of patronage, but the taxes for their erection and maintenance are still payable.
It would have been better had the municipality experimented with a public bath before going into the bath business on so expensive and elaborate a scale. You can drive an Englishman to water, but you cannot make him depart from his old fashioned, conservative method of using it, and as long as he prefers a private trickie to a public dip a bath house built on the scale of a Carnegie library becomes a superfluous and therefore an extraneous and a failure.

One potent argument in favor of municipal ownership is that it will ultimately bring city bonds within the reach of all. Bonds bearing interest at 3 1/2 per cent sold several years ago for $12.17. Today bonds of the same municipality under the threat of municipal ownership sell for 100.017. If this rate of depreciation keeps on and municipal ownership becomes an accomplished fact, there is no reason why any bondholder should not in time be able to paper his walls with city securities. Our decorative art editor suggests that a very handsome and appropriate frieze for the drawing room of an old maid could be made of civic ice bonds at small cost.

DISADVANTAGES OF M. O.

Cities Can Make More Out of Utilities
in the Way of Rent Than Operation.

So far the weight of evidence is to the effect that municipalities can make more out of municipal utilities in the way of rent than in the way of profits.
Private enterprise can do more with them than can municipal officials, and the point to which public opinion should address itself is that a fair compensation should be obtained for the franchises conferred and that they should be so conditioned as to make them as beneficial as possible to the public.

A great danger to which municipal operation is exposed in this country is that under our system the cost of maladministration would not be brought home to the mass of the people with the force and effect which the English system of local taxation provides, while it would certainly tend to create an army of employees whose interest in the maintenance of the system, regardless of cost, would be apt to corrupt elections.—Baltimore News.

A Vigorous Indictment.

The dangers of municipal ownership are well known. Trading with the public credit, whether state or municipal, must of necessity lead to stupendous financial liabilities, add to the burden of the taxes, weaken municipal credit, bring about inequality of taxation, interfere with the natural laws of trade, check industrial and scientific progress, stop invention, discourage individual effort, destroy foreign trade, establish an army of officials, breed corruption, create an aristocracy of labor, demoralize the voter and ultimately make socialistic communities of towns and cities.—St. Joseph (Mo.)
Gazette.

In a Nutshell.

The late Marshall Field, Chicago's greatest merchant, put the matter in a nutshell when he said to a delegation that had come to enlist his support of the plan to municipalize the street railways of Chicago:

"I shall be glad to concede that your plan is the serious, dignified, business-like remedy for existing evils that you represent it to be when you have demonstrated to me the ability of city of Chicago to operate a decent elevator service in the city hall."

One-third the Taxes Misspent.

It is not hard to say that if Chicago's taxes were spent honestly and the work they pay for was done as well as it would be under private management, fully a third of the amount would be refunded to the people.—Chicago Journal.

Grandpa has found a "fly in the ointment" in the water and electric light service. It has been found necessary to suspend the superintendent for supposed graft.—West Point (Miss.) Traveler.

Livery Change

I have bought the livery business of Evitts & Courtney, on North Main street, and would be glad to have my old friends and customers call on me. I am going to do a general livery business, keep none but the best help, board horses, furnish the very best rigs and guarantee satisfaction in every way. I am the oldest man in the business in the city and am not afraid to make the assertion that I will please all.

THE KENTUCKIAN will send to the Jamestown Exposition
the four most popular young women in Christian County.
The Kentuckian will pay every cent of expense, including railroad fare; Pullman fare; meals on train; hotel bills, street car fare; admission to grounds and amusement concessions;
side trips to points in the vicinity of the Exposition grounds.

The contest is open to any young lady making her home in Christian county. For each year's subscription to the Kentuckian at $2.00 the subscriber will be entitled to cast 40 votes.

Our contest began Nov.
15th and will continue for 6 months; to May 15.

YOU choose the candidate—WE don't. The minute a vote is cast for a young woman she becomes a candidate and her name is placed upon the published list, together with the total vote cast for her up to the time the list is published.

When a subscription is received at this office the subscriber is first credited with the amount of his subscription and the number of votes his subscription represents is credited to the candidate named by him.

The vote will be COUNTED EVERY FRIDAY at noon and each candidate will be credited with her new vote and her total vote to date and the result will be published in the next issue of

THIS BANK FREE

Now is the time for you to open a SAVINGS ACCOUNT in Commercial & Savings Bank, which can be done either by mail or in person. We emphasize NOW because interest is paid on JULY 1st and JAN. 1st of each year, and all deposits made on or before the 7th of the month, bears interest from the FIRST of that month, so any deposits made from now to and including the 7th of April will on July 1st draw three months' interest, and if you should have no use for either interest or principal and allow it to remain, on January 1st you would receive interest on the entire amount. In other words, interest is compounded on JULY 1st and JAN. 1st of EACH YEAR AS LONG AS THE MONEY REMAINS IN BANK.

(NON-CARBOLIC.)

A STANDARDIZED DISINFECTANT, ANTISEPTIC CLEANSER, DEODORIZER AND PURIFIER

Kreso possesses advantages which make it better and safer than any other material for household disinfecting, and it is preferable to carbolic acid, because it does not burn, to chloride of lime, copious, etc., because First, it is safe. In the dilution recommended it is practically non-poisonous, and can therefore be used freely, and is safe to have around. It is not caustic or irritating; it does not stain marble, and therefore does not destroy plumbing; it does not permanently stain washable fabrics.

Second, it is effective. Our laboratory tests require that in a 1% solution it must destroy the most resistant disinfectant (the green pus germ) in one minute. It truly disinfects, cleanses and purifies. It destroys foul odors, not by subduing them, but by destroying the cause of the odor.

Third, it is standardized, always the same. You can depend upon it.

Kreso is particularly valuable in preventing an outbreak of contagious diseases, by destroying infection, cleansing, purifying and promoting sanitation. It is the ideal disinfectant for HOSPITALS, TRAILWAY STATIONS, PUBLIC BUILDINGS, SCHOOL ROOMS, BATH-ROOMS, WATER-CLOSETS, URINALS, KITCHEN SINKS, STORE ROOMS, OUT- HOUSES, GARBAGE BOXES, CESSPOOLS, STABLES, DOG-KENNELS, CAGES, ETC.

For all general disinfecting purposes mix Kreso with water (warm preferred) in the following proportions:

1 tablespoonful Kreso, 1 pint water, 12 gallons water, making approximately a 1-in-100 solution.
